

Incident Name: Riverside Fire Rhabdo (2020)

State: Oregon

Date: 9/20/20

Incident Type: Medical or Exertion or Heat

Description of the Incident:

On the Riverside Fire on the Mount Hood National Forest, a contract firefighter experienced nausea, diarrhea, vomiting and dehydration. The patient was transported to a medical center via incident ambulance and was tested for COVID-19 and Rhabdomyolysis. The patient's test results were negative for COVID-19 and positive for Rhabdo. The patient's current status unknown.

[This data was provided by the USFS Weekly Summary Report.]